On September 15, 2005, Newell Rubbermaid Inc. (the "Company") announced a global initiative referred to as Project Acceleration, a three-year plan to strengthen and transform its portfolio. In connection with Project Acceleration, on September 13, 2005, the Board of Directors of the Company approved a restructuring program, commencing January 1, 2006, designed to reduce manufacturing overhead to advance plans for achieving best cost position (the "Restructuring Program"). At the time of this announcement, the Company projected that the implementation and execution of the Restructuring Program would result in cumulative restructuring charges totaling between $350 and $400 million ($295-$340 million after tax).

The Company announced on February 13, 2007 that it now expects to incur cumulative restructuring charges in connection with the Restructuring Program totaling between $375 and $400 million ($315 to $340 million after tax), and to complete the program in 2009. Approximately 60% of the restructuring costs are still expected to be cash charges. Through December 31, 2006, the Company has incurred restructuring charges of $117.6 million pursuant to the Restructuring Program.

The Company also announced that annualized savings from the Restructuring Program are now projected to exceed $150 million upon conclusion of the program, versus the Company's original expectation of $120 million. Specifically, the Corporation expects that $50 million of savings will be realized in 2007, an additional $70 million of savings will be realized in 2008, and an additional $30 million of savings will be realized in 2009.
